Six Labor Law Changes Due Friday

Interpretation May Be Needed In Future Years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Six major changes in U. S. labor law sharply curtailing unions' rights to picket and conduct boycotts against employers go into effect Friday.

Attorneys for organized labor, business groups and government agencies differ widely on the precise impact of the changes in the Taft-Hartley Act.

BUT THEY DO agree that it will be years before the courts and administrative rulings spell out exactly what a union can and cannot do under the new statute.

"The new amendments occupy less than five printed pages but seldom has legislation packed so many apparently close and difficult questions into such a small amount of type," one member of the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) said recently.

UNIONS DID win some concessions in the new law they have generally condemned as anti-labor. The building trades will benefit by revisions to permit greater union control over hiring. All unions won a point in another section authorizing discharged strikers to vote in representation elections, within limits.

But most of the changes appear certain to hamper union activity. The major revisions include:

—ABOLITION OF the so-called "no-man's land" by allowing state courts and agencies to handle labor-management disputes where the NLRB declines to assert jurisdiction.

—Broadening the present ban on secondary boycotts and outlawing "hot cargo" clauses whereby an employer agrees to stop doing business with another firm having union troubles.

—Banning picketing for recognition or in organizing drives at plants by unions not certified as bargaining agents for the workers, except under limited conditions.

Rockefeller Tests Strength

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York came West today to prospect for Republican support and said he was here to test possible presidential strength.

But he told an impromptu airport press conference that he definitely was not a candidate at this time.

China Criticized By Yugoslavia

NEW DELHI (UPI) — The Yugoslav ambassador to India and Nepal warned today that Communist Chinese aggression in the border dispute with India also "poses a threat to Nepal."

It was the first criticism of Red China's recent actions by a Communist nation.

Rockefeller Won't Be Veep

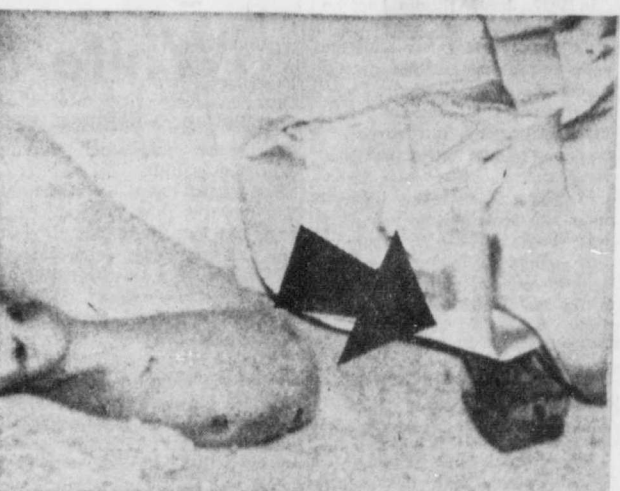

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said today he wants no part of second place on the Republican ticket in 1960 but he admitted openly he is touring the Far West to see what his chances are to run for the top spot.

Rockefeller shied away from saying he is or will be a candidate for President — but he told a news conference that his four-state tour will be "very useful to me in coming to a decision."

TORD OVE ZEPPEN-FIELD, 21-year-old Palm Springs youth, is the subject of a seven-state manhunt today on suspicion of the murder of 42-year-old Hollywood film technician Lillian Lenorak here Sunday. The murder weapon, a sawed-off .22 caliber pump-action rifle — with blood stains and particles of flesh covering it — was found under the mattress in his apartment bedroom. (Palm Springs Police Photo)

AT THE MURDER SCENE investigators considered this pistol grip near the body (arrow) a major clue in the murder case. Local police officers, working on the clue, were led to the identity of Tord Zeppen-Field as the number one suspect when it was identified as having been carved by the youth. (Desert Sun Photo)

BILLINGS, Mont. (UPI) — A howling blizzard killed five persons and left Montana reeling under more than a foot of snow today.

Ground and air transportation was snarled.

Marital Rift Reports Denied

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Lucille Ball firmly denied Wednesday night reports of a marital rift between her and Desi Arnaz.

POSTMEN OUTRUN FIDO, NOW FACE FARM MENAGERIE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Postmen who have learned to outrun and outwit the family dog today started considering some new dangers like bulls, goats, geese and other assorted farm animals.

These animals are owned by 300,000 rural families which will be seeing the mailman for the first time by the end of the winter. The families represent about one million persons who come under a new extension of rural delivery mail service.

Not only will the farm families be seeing the uniforms of the postal carrier, but so will their animals.

The Post Office said it hoped the farm animals would not bite, butt or otherwise molest the carriers. The Post Office's health and safety division pointed out that mailmen have been winning the war against Fido and other animals.

Seven-State Manhunt On for Village Youth

By FRED WEIGEL

Sheriff's investigators and Palm Springs police today discovered an 18-inch rifle barrel, its shiny metal dulled by a matting of blood and hair, beneath the mattress of 21-year-old Tord Ove Zeppen-Field here and pressed a seven-state alarm for the youth in the brutal bludgeoning slaying of attractive divorcee Lillian Lenorak.

The officers, armed with information that young Zeppen-Field was "heading for Yuma," alerted law enforcement officers throughout the Southwest and added the ominous warning that Zeppen-Field was believed to be armed and should be considered "very dangerous."

PALM SPRINGS investigating officers, pointing to a two-year-old arrest in which Zeppen-Field staved off a half-dozen carloads of Palm Springs police with a switchblade knife, warned that the youth will "probably resist capture with all possible means."

"If he's guilty," the department spokesman said, "he'll probably die before he surrenders."

Police also cautioned motorists throughout the seven-state search area on picking up "any hitchhikers." They repeated their warning that the youth "is probably armed and is considered very dangerous."

THE RIFLE BARREL found beneath the mattress of Zeppen-Field's bed "clearly marked as boy as our No. 1 suspect," Sheriff's Lt. Ed Brown of the Banning substation declared.

He said the .22 caliber rifle barrel was "heavily coated" with dried blood and matted hair.

Brown said that diligent work on the part of Palm Springs Police Lt. Robert White had earlier provided investigators with their lead to Zeppen-Field as a possible suspect in the crime.

Lt. White said that a missing person report filed Monday by the youth's mother coincided with the "modus operandi" of the crime.

Following detective work established that Zeppen-Field had hand-carved the pistol grip from the stock of a .22 caliber rifle, and re-fashioned the gun into a Steve McQueen, "Wanted Dead or Alive"-type weapon.

ACCORDING TO LT. Brown, Zeppen-Field developed an early fixation to be a cowboy, and often wandered off into the Santa Rosa foothills "to chase wild horses."

On one occasion, he was returned to Palm Springs by local police officers from Flagstaff, Arizona, where he went chasing horses.

Mrs. Zeppen-Field said her son had no steady job, but did help her around her Las Flores Apartments at 390 Paseo El Mirador.

ONE VILLAGE STREET HELD ALL THE KEYS IN BRUTAL MURDER

A single street, in Palm Springs playing an important part in the slaying of Mrs. Lenorak, a Hollywood film laboratory technician, ex-ballet dancer and show girl, and mother of a 13-year-old boy now in the Elsinore Military Academy.

This is the east-west street of Paseo El Mirador.

It was on this street that Dr. Frank Back has his home, the place where attractive Lillian Lenorak was to take her vacation from work.

It was on this street that a young couple were staying who at 2:40 a.m. Sunday morning drove down San Rafael Road and discovered the body.

It was on this road that Dr. Back allowed Mrs. Lenorak to leave his car after an argument over a key to his house. . . . and discovered the body.

year-old divorcee, saying that the woman "didn't date a lot or set around in bars drinking."

Investigators said they received their information that the youth might be heading for Arizona from the Indio Police Department. Zeppen-Field was halted in Indio at 11 p.m. Sunday, where he was interrogated by officers on a routine check-up. They said he was on foot.

He told Indio Police Chief Pat Cunningham at that time that he was headed for Yuma, Arizona, to check on some horses he had sold to John Payne, the motion picture star.

YOUNG ZEPPEN-FIELD has a record of several local arrests, including three times as a runaway juvenile, and twice for disturbing the peace. In Jan., 1957, he was arrested after he beat his mother, Vega Zeppen-Field, and broke the windows of their hotel apartment.

He was also charged with resisting arrest after he held a score of police officers at bay with a switchblade knife.

Zeppen-Field received 10 days in jail, suspended, and one year's probation for the assault on his mother.

Asks Airport Support

Wagner Reports Course Is Busy

City Manager Dan Wagner today announced that the new Palm Springs Golf Course has apparently established its economic success, judging from receipts garnered during its first two weeks of operation.

Wagner, addressing members of the Palm Springs Real Estate Board at a Biltmore Hotel breakfast meeting today, said the opening of the new municipal course triggered an "amazing reaction."

"I CAN'T TELL whether we're really going to make money on the golf course," Wagner commented, "but I can tell you that we're not going to do too badly."

Wagner reported that in the first 10 days of operation (four of which were rained out), the course grossed $2,800 in greens fees. Last weekend, the take hit $1,500 and the daily attendance rose above the 100-mark.

The city manager said he expects heavy use of the course to increase as the current season progresses. He said he expects a daily revenue in excess of $1,000 for weekends and from $500 to $700 per day on week days when the second nine holes open.

SALES OF COURSE ticket books have been outstanding at local hotels, he added and Wagner expects the course to pay for itself once it goes into full operation. Golfers are now using only the first nine holes of the municipal course.

Wagner also solicited Real Estate Board support of the city's forthcoming airport bond issue. He said the Federal Aviation Agency has urged the city to expedite airport acquisition and pointed out that Palm Springs may be well on the way to becoming an alternate, all-weather air terminal for Los Angeles International Airport.

"President Eisenhower's 707 jet easily landed and took off from our airport and that paved the way for the operation of larger aircraft here," Wagner said. "Now we must generate support for our airport program because our economic development here depends upon acquisition of the airport."

U.S. 'Fanning' Cold War Anew, Claim Russians

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has accused the Western Powers of "fanning up the cold war" by establishing a new propaganda radio station in beleaguered West Berlin, it was learned today.

The official Soviet news agency Tass said the note, delivered to the U. S., French and British ambassadors Wednesday, protested the setting up of the freedom station by the West German government.

THE NOTE DEMANDED that the Western Powers "take appropriate measures to preclude the possibility of such unlawful action," Tass reported.

The decision to establish the radio station was "unlawful since it is incompatible with the existing status of West Berlin," the note said.

The Russian note is the newest denunciation by the Communists against western propaganda.

Service Is Key

Subscribers Eye PUC Rate Ruling

Subscribers to Coachella Valley Telephone Company today awaited a ruling from the California Public Utilities Commission on the telephone firm's bid for increased rates with the hope that any PUC decision would back up citizen demands for better, more efficient service.

The Desert Sun yesterday conducted a valleywide survey to determine public opinion on the request and the hearings and discovered that while most citizens readily admit that the utility's operating expenses are up, any rate increase should be tied irrevocably to stipulations for betterment of service.

THE HEARINGS were held on the company's application for a rate increase last week.

Mrs. Walter Timm, of Mecca, told The Desert Sun that she thinks "they should improve the service first. I'm sure the company needs the increase since the price of everything has gone up and I'm sure they have to pay more for labor and equipment."

She added, however, that "instead of expanding or increasing their rates" the company should first improve. She said that her major complaint concerned voices on her line when making long-distance calls. She was one of the

COUNCIL TO HEAR REPORT ON LINKS

One of the largest audiences ever to attend a city council session, is expected to appear at City hall tonight to hear Dr. Benjamin Goldberg make his report on his investigation of the Palm Springs Golf Course.

At least two other matters are also holding much interest in the community — the problem of enforcing the license fee code through the arrest of persons who do not pay the fee, and the re-

Public Hearings On Strike Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower's steel strike fact-finding board will resume public hearings to put "heat" on union and management negotiators to reach an agreement, it was learned today.

There is no definite date for the sessions but they will be held before the three-man board makes its required report to the President on Jan. 7.

more than 25 persons that testified at the hearings in Indio.

J. C. NEWMAN, company president, when contacted at first declined comment but stated that the only way the company can improve is to raise funds "and we can't without earnings."

He said that the company needs the rate increase to keep up with the growth of the area.

"We now have 6,000 to 7,000 primary stations," Newman said, "but only 25 to 30 persons testified. However, we don't want to present our case by derogatory remarks."

The president said "we are doing everything we can to improve the service" and disclosed that in the late-filed exhibits "we are setting forth our plan that will be effected in the next two years as far as improving and adding to our property for new service and new subscribers."

HARRY CANNON, attorney for the Palm Desert Chamber of Commerce and the City of Coachella, said on the part of his clients that there should be "some kind of order issued by the PUC putting a burden" on the telephone company to improve the service.

"We will be paying top dollar for what wouldn't be top service," Cannon said.

quest of Michael Farrell to remove hoodlums from the Playhouse building.

MORE THAN A month under investigation, Dr. Goldberg has "not told a soul" what the report says. He made the investigation at the direction of Palm Springs Civic Association. The group is expected to be out in volume to hear the report.

Other problems, which include the arrest of William Groves, owner of the Pink Palace, for failure to pay his business license, will also be discussed. The Ice Cream parlors operator represented by Attorney William O. Burt, said that he would fight the new business license lay through the courts to test its legality if the city persisted in its intention to arrest him.

IN THE CASE OF Michael Farrell, the city council will have to decide whether the ex-Playhouse producer will be given permission to remove spotlights from the beams of the Playhouse building which Farrell says were put in at his expense.

City Manager Dan Wagner said today that this particular problem has been muddled even greater by the fact that Farrell has gone into the building during the past two days and has already removed the lights.

PALM DESERT — Ed Welcome, Palm Desert Realtor, was voted "Realtor of the Month" by his colleagues at the regular monthly breakfast meeting of the Palm Desert Board of Realtors this morning.

Roy St. Leon, president, presented Welcome with the award. Welcome received recognition for his "outstanding contribution to the commercial development of Palm Desert." He recently completed his new office.

YOUTH PRIES OPEN JAWS OF SHARK, ESCAPES DEATH

MALIBU, Calif. (UPI) — "If that shark had sunk his jaws a little deeper into my arm it would have been the end of me."

Lifeguard Duffie Fryling, 21, thus described today how a small blue shark sank its sharp teeth into his left forearm from the wrist to the elbow Tuesday while he was swimming underwater in the Pacific.

Fryling said he was attacked when he swam into a swirling mass of about 15 blood-maddened sharks near a bed of kelp.

He said they pursued him ashore, one of them snagging his forearm in its mouth. He managed to pry the shark's mouth open and escape, he said.

RED CROSS SWIMMING instruction courses in the "Teaching Johnny to Swim" program sponsored by the Recreation Department and the American Red Cross will be held in Palm Springs Nov. 21 from 1 to 3 p.m. at High School pool. Farm Safety to Get Close Look From State DIA

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—California Farm Bureau members in the fourth day of their 41st annual convention were given advice today on everything from farm safety to mental illness.

The advice came during meetings on rural health, taxes, farm safety and natural resources.

THOMAS N. SAUNDERS, chief of the state Division of Industrial Safety, told members his agency planned a farm-to-farm enforcement of the new California safety orders.

Saunders said previous information programs had not helped to substantially lower the farm accident rate while industrial accident rates have decreased by nearly 35 per cent since 1950.

Other facets of the farm meeting:

— J. BLAINE QUINN, FONTANA, was elected master of the California State Grange to succeed retiring George Sahlmeyer. Sahlmeyer announced his retirement from the position he held for 30 years.

— The California Farm Bureau Federation met its membership quota of 65,456 this year for the first time since 1952.

Men's sideburns were popularized by Civil War Gen. Ambrose E. Burnside.

CITY, RED CROSS SET SWIM SESSION

Recognizing the need for swimming pool safety — with more than 2,200 private pools in Palm Springs — the Palm Springs Branch, American Red Cross, and the City Recreation Department will hold a swimming instruction meet from 1 to 3 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 21, at the high school pool.

The class is offered to adults, so that they may be equipped to teach the fundamentals of water safety to youngsters under nine years of age.

DURING THE two hour instruction period, parents and pool managers will be introduced to the American National Red Cross booklet, "Teaching Johnny to Swim," and how to use it. The course will be taught by John Kraft, safety services director, Riverside County Chapter.

Adults will have the opportunity to practice skills at the swim meet, and those wishing to participate are asked to bring suits and towels.

"RED CROSS has a strong conviction that every household has a person who, with a little guidance, can teach the young members of the family the basic elements of swimming," according to Earl Hough, chairman, Palm Springs Red Cross Branch. "One solution to meet the increasing demand for swimming and lifesaving instruction lies within the family itself."

Most swimming instructors have found that the minimum age for satisfactory group learning is about nine years, Hough continued. Before that age the average child does not develop swimming capabilities in group instruction, but will respond well to individual instruction.

Castro TV Talk Tonight

HAVANA, Cuba (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro makes another of his marathon television speeches to-night and was reported ready to answer U.S. charges that he is deliberately leading Cuba away from its traditional friendship with America.

DOCTORS ASK BAN ON FERTILIZERS; CITY SLATES STUDY

Palm Springs' Desert Hospital doctors staff this week sent a letter to City Council protesting the use of odoriferous fertilizers by local residents.

The letter, signed by the secretary of the group, asked for city legislation against the use of the compound, but the council has had legal opinion that it cannot pass such a law unless it is for public safety or welfare.

City Attorney Jerry Bunker said that a new study of the matter may change his previous finding.

Local Reserve Officer Attends Benning Course

Major Frank R. Prince, local businessman, and executive officer of the 426th Civil Affairs-Military Government Company in San Bernardino, returned this week from a special two week resident course at the Provost Marshall General School, Fort Gordon, Ga.

Prince is a veteran of World War II. His headquarters were at Fort Dix, N.J. and his military assignments included commands of troop trains. He was assigned to the 426th Civil Affairs, Military Government Company in February 1949, and became the executive officer in 1958.

He is a member of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce, and is active in the local American Legion. He resides with his wife, Rena, and his daughter Donni Jean, at 749 Sunrise Way.

Last year $49 billion was spent for new construction in this country. Housing equipment and supply companies invested over $28 million in daily newspapers to insure that they reached the major portion of their market.

It will be his first speech since Oct. 26 when he told a crowd of 250,000 before the presidential palace that the United States was guilty of "shameless neglect" in permitting Miami-based planes to "bomb and machinegun" Havana.

THE NEXT DAY U.S. Ambassador Philip Bonsal presented a diplomatic memorandum to President Osvaldo Dorticos asking the revolutionary government "earnestly review its position in order that traditional friendship of the two countries might be restored before further damage is done."

Dorticos said he "categorically rejected" parts of the note but would study others. Neither that U.S. note nor another of Monday has been answered.

THE U.S. STATEMENT Monday described as "inaccurate, misleading and malicious" a pamphlet issued by Cuba's State Department on the recent "bombing" of Havana.

The U.S. position is that only pamphlets were dropped and that casualties were caused by anti-aircraft fire.

LT. COL. L. F. HOOD, son of Mrs. Ona E. Hood, 413 North Calle Encelia has been appointed Professor of Military Science and Tactics at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., and will take over his new duties early next year. Now stationed on Okinawa, they will go to Japan on Jan. 4, and leave there for the United States Jan. 12. Colonel Hood, his wife, Elizabeth, and son, Vin, will spend some time here before going to Nashville.

Open car windows, says the Automobile Club of Southern California, are an invitation to danger when young children are in the car. Keep an eye on the small fry. Don't let them hang their heads or arms out of car windows. And be sure to teach children that the car door handle is not to be played with.

Chapel Service For Bergeron To Be Friday

Funeral services for Eugene R. Bergeron, 30, 61-206 Mission Drive, will be held at 1 p.m. Friday, in the chapel of Wiefels and Son Funeral Home.

Dr. James Blackstone, minister of the Palm Springs Community Church, will officiate at the services. Interment will be in Desert Memorial Park.

Bergeron, a resident of Palm Springs since 1952, died Wednesday from a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

During the Korean War, Bergeron served with the U.S. Army. He worked at the Wilshire service station, and Woodcraft of California. He was a member of the Libott Pool Bowling Team.

Bergeron is survived by his wife, Ella, and an 11-month old daughter, Dawn Renie.

Legion Ladies Seek 'White Elephants'

DESERT HOT SPRINGS—Have any 'white elephants' lurking about the house?

Just pack them up and send them to the Desert Hot Springs American Legion Auxiliary, which will sell your dust collectors for the benefit of a worthy cause.

Auxiliary president M. Ilta Campbell explained that the organization is having its annual Christmas Bazaar on Nov. 27 and 28 and a "parcel post" package sale is a big part of the program.

Area residents are asked to send unwanted household items and whatnots to the auxiliary, which will sell the packages unopened for the benefit of needy desert area veterans and their families.

The annual bazaar also features sale of home baked pies and cakes.

Requests for white elephant goods have already been mailed to more than 125 citizens and auxiliary officials invited all area residents to send their packages to the auxiliary ways and means chairman, Mrs. Jessie Pittinger, in care of Post Office Box 692, Desert Hot Springs.

COMMUNITY CHEST IS YOUR JOB

In wealthy communities — such as Palm Springs — it is sometimes difficult to comprehend that some persons may be in need. In drastic need, in fact.

Each year the Palm Springs Welfare and Friendly Aid Association processes hundreds of requests for aid — meals, overnight lodging, work references, medical and dental assistance, gasoline for cars, rent payments and scores of other requests for charity.

Last year, the Welfare and Friendly Aid Association processed nearly 800 such requests.

Another facet of the organization is its Tribute Fund, which administers to the needs of sick or bereaved families who are residents here. Cancer and heart cases of a purely local nature are aided by the Tribute Fund as well.

The Welfare and Friendly Aid Association also handles those functions which responsible communities endeavor to fulfill — school lunches, milk, dental aid, a well-baby clinic, a pre-natal clinic, a Christmas toy program (now in full swing) and other activities.

The Welfare and Friendly Aid Association is the type of organization that deserves the whole-hearted support of its community. Have you given to your Community Chest yet?

AN OPEN LETTER

Found in a corner of T.T.'s huge mail bag, an excellent letter to Chairman Khrushchev. Its profound contents opens the eyes of our understanding a little wider.

(By Sandi Nelson, (13), 870 San Lorenzo, Palm Springs.)

Dear Mr. Khrushchev,
It is of great importance that you see the real United States. Before you take any aspersions back to your country, look around you and observe us as we really live. People striving together, their main objective to enrich their nation.

See us at work. Visit factories, offices, and schools in session. While I'll concede, some schools are overcrowded, you'll see most of them have ample space, teachers and facilities.

Stop anyone on the street and note, due to our extensive education program, how really intelligent they are. You must understand that some of our citizens feel they are your adversaries and make disparaging remarks, while still more are warm and hospitable, representing the real United States. See an average worker's home and note the many modern appliances. Notice also the number of autos on our modern freeways and the never-ending struggle for safer living.

See us at our leisure, doing the things we like best. Visit famous Disneyland; a fabulous, magical world of make-believe for all ages.

Observe how the law is fighting juvenile delinquency by furnishing fine libraries, beautiful theaters and well kept parks.

Study our two party system with an unbiased opinion and compare it with your own.

Last, but not least, you must realize how proud of our American Heritage we are. See how we commemorate our heroes by visiting Tombs of the Unknown Soldier, Washington Monument, Lincoln Memorial, and the numerous others there are. Visit Philadelphia where our treasured Liberty

Bell is enshrined to remind us of our perseverant ancestors who established the freedom we have today.

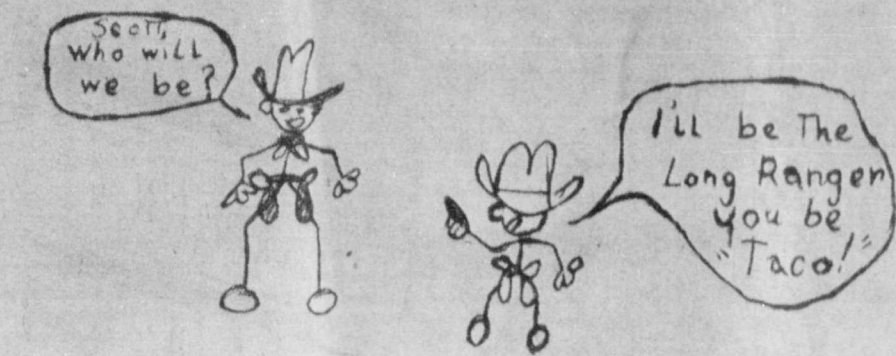

As you can see, our people are not apathetic. Even though we have all these labor saving devices and appliances, we still strive toward higher scientific advancement and a more bountiful world for all.

That is why our country is free and just, and why I am so proud I am an American Citizen.

Very truly yours,
SANDI NELSON

STORY TIME

DIFFERENT THINGS WE HAVE KNOWN

By Mary Jane Adams, (8), Katherine Finchy School.

Planets are big round bodies that move around the sun. We all live on the planet Earth. Earth is the only planet that people live on. The names of the planets are Mercury, Jupiter, Mars, Saturn, Neptune, Uranus, Pluto, Venus, Earth.

A long, long time ago there was a big mass of gas and dust. This gas and dust formed the moon. Once there were some boys and girls. These boys and girls went of a field trip to the ocean. One girl asked the teacher how the sea was formed. The teacher said, "Scientists think the ocean basins have sunk below the level of the lands because the ocean basins contain rocks heavier than the rocks of the land."

Once there were some young men. Every night they would go out and study the skies. They would study the heavenly bodies. The heavenly bodies are the moon, the stars, and the planets. These men discovered that the world was round. This is astronomy. They discovered the Milky Way. The Milky Way is a streaky, hazy light in the sky. It is made of billions and billions of stars. Astrology is when people go out and study the heavenly bodies and can tell when we are going to have a rain storm and a snow storm.

THE TORTOISE

By Jeffrey Kemp (8), 607 Iroquois Street, Cathedral City.

The tortoise stores water in two sacs. It goes less than one mile per hour. It can get along without water for months at a time. The tortoise eats plants which have water in them.

A giant tortoise weighs over 500 pounds and lives over 100 years. The medium size tortoise lives in the hot dry desert. It cannot stand very hot sunshine. During the middle of the day it stays in a burrow under the ground.

There are about 250 kinds in the whole world. All turtles have shells of some kind, but some of them have shells covered with leathery skin instead of with a horny covering.

The eggs are about the shape of hen's eggs. They are smaller. Tortoises are reptiles.

Every summer a new band is formed around the edges of each plate in the shell. The tortoise did not grow any new plates, they just grow larger.

The male tortoise fights over the female. The winner gets her for a wife and they raise a family of little tortoises. They are hatched from eggs.

If the tortoise gets on his back and cannot turn over, he will die.

Steel Strike Truce

What amounts to a compulsory 80-day truce is now in effect in the 116-day old steel strike as a result of the decision by the Supreme Court of the United States upholding the injunctive provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Nothing has been settled as far as the strike itself is concerned except officially affirming that a national emergency has been created by the long shut down.

Enforcement of the truce temporarily stops losses due to the cessation of manufacturing steel which had mounted beyond the $5 billion mark, idled more than a million people in its spread to the automotive and other industries dependent upon steel products, and had slowed down the nation's prosperity to a point where it was becoming quite generally noticeable.

While any effective settlement remains yet to be agreed upon, and workers could conceivably walk out again at the end of the 80-day compulsory return, it is becoming quite clear that at the public behest the government will take steps through prompt legislative action to prevent resumption of the strike should that appear imminent.

Even should the steel strike be settled earlier, it appears almost certain that as a result of lessons learned this, the longest and costliest strike in history, Congress will considerably strengthen the Taft-Hartley Act in the direction of compulsory arbitration to prevent such mass work stoppages in the future.

The steel strike has served to show that a stoppage in any of the major functions in this age of mass production, be it the dockworkers, railroads, teamsters, automotive or other large industries, adversely affects all including other union workers who have no labor disputes in addition to the public and country at large.

The steel situation has also demonstrated the futility if not folly of the strike as an effective or advantageous means of benefiting working people. On the contrary many are now convinced that the strike has become an out-moded and often exceedingly costly action requiring years of work to regain payroll losses which could be avoided by adoption of new labor-management bargaining formulae.

Certainly the duration and staggering losses as a consequence of the 116-day steel strike have convinced the country as a whole that ways must be found and steps taken to avoid a continual round of future deadlocks between management and labor in our giant unionized industries of today.

The steel strike seems to be the pivotal point in turning toward a new and better system of settling labor-management differences without work stoppages. If it so proves to be, then it will in the end eventually offset the gigantic losses involved and be long remembered as the means of bringing about a new and better era for labor, industry and citizens in every walk of life in all parts of these United States.

The Horseman's Return

"OKYO, Japan — A certain knightliness clings to the master horseman. America's top soldier in the 21-century, 12-million-square-mile Pacific Command is the gray-haired, thoughtful-eyed, warm-mannered General Isaac Davis White. He started off as a second lieutenant of Cavalry in 1923, became a crack Army polo player, polished his horsemanship and served as manager of the Army Equestrian team in the Olympic Games of 1948.

Before that, I.D. White of Peterborough, New Hampshire, was one of a small group of Cavalry officers who supervised the transition from horses to armor. General Patton jumped White from a major to a brigadier general. In 1940-52 General White fought on three continents, winning 12 U.S. decorations and 14 foreign decorations.

Nothing, I think, is more necessary to eventual American victory in the Pacific area than this image of the knightly, caparisoned Army Commander. General White spoke with the blue flash of personal lightning in telling me of the Nationalist Chinese soldiers last year under the shelling of the channel islands. They were "responsive to their orders . . . never broke . . . never faltered."

He spoke with satisfaction of the Filipinos and Thais who were commanded in the Korean War. He said that the Laotian regulars recently had performed "creditably" and that the South Vietnamese, while not battle-tested, had executed

"very successful" anti-guerilla operations. As trainer and later battlefield leader of South Koreans, Gen. White received a citation from President Rhee for behaving "in a manner which abruptly halted the onslaught of the enemy and subsequently forced their disorderly retreat."

WELL, YOU can't beat that. Given American examples like White, it is conceivable that the small nations of Asia can be organized into useful allies. Given heroes of their own nationalities, these allies can thwart the pressure of the Communist powers upon every border in Asia.

All told in Asia, the eight countries which are taking American aid and leadership can today mount 50 active Army divisions and 20 reserve Army divisions. These are substantial numbers. The areas are vast and the borders long. The four Communist countries — Russia, China, North Korea, North Vietnam — have a total of 3.5 million military persons and the advantage of interior lines. But there have been signs in Korea, the Taiwan Strait, Vietnam and Laos that the indigenous peoples will resist invasion — if they have a rally-round symbol.

IT IS FATUOUS to pretend that "freedom" and "democracy" will serve the purpose. Words and abstractions won't do. Neither will non-combat, prime ministers, presidents and kings. The wheel of history has made a full circle — or, perhaps, in some parts of the world, it never really moved. The ancient figure of the man on horseback is a primary need in the non-Red countries of Asia.

It will take some readjustment for Americans to accept all this. Our weary minds are still digging out from under the snow job of balderdash in praise of Liberal Politicians. But both the U.S. and France turned to wartime commanders after the failure of the Social planners. Asians, with much less experience in self-government need to be fired with personal leadership and reassured by the sight of troops and military hardware.

HARDER FOR Americans to accept, I would think, is the secondary role of Navy and Air in the border wars of Asia. But here, again, there is a return to past concepts — Navy and Air are the supports of land operations, not substitutes for them. In the jungles, the river valleys and the mountain passes, it would appear that the foot soldier has come back to his own.

Quite aside from fighting the enemy, each of the non-Red Asian nations needs an Army to keep internal order. An Army is needed to represent the nationalist spirit which everywhere is the best stopper of international communism. Give each of these nations a military hero, and perhaps provide a super-hero such as the West had in both World Wars, and the Communist march can be resisted, even stopped.

'Where's the One on Horse Sense?'

This Side Of The Sun

By Phat

I know the guy who
 We should send
 By space ship to the moon.
 He hums along with TV stars
 But is so out of tune.

You know, the top-time entertainers come on during a TV spectacular. They get paid thousands for just singing two or three numbers during the hour. But this guy I am thinking of, hums along with them loudly. He maybe gets $80 a week — with overtime — but thinks his vocal accompaniment is delightful.

He's my guest so I can't tell him to shut up.
 All I can do is skimp on his next one.

YESTERDAY I wrote something nice about the Greyhound and the good service it delivers. Besides the comfort of leaving the traffic worries to the bus drivers, it's fun watching the people.

Although all of the seats are the same and all have the same gadgets to make you comfortable, some people just can't seem to make up their mind.

LIKE THAT WOMAN last Saturday. Two dresses in, I think, cellphone bags, one shopping bag full of sundry items, one small case and a big suitcase. All went up in the rack on one side and she sat down. But it was sunny on that side, so she shifted all five articles from the rack on the left side to the rack on the right.

Then she overheard some one say "the right side will be the sunny side until we get to Banning."

SO, THE WHOLE WORKS went over to the other side again.

Then some one said: "After Banning the left side will be sunny."

So there was a fourth shifting of the five articles. She got up and started the fifth but by that time the bus had filled up.

So she sat there and glared.

LIKE THE WOMAN who ignored several empty seats up front and sat down right in front of me in the smoking section. Picked up a discarded newspaper and fanned herself vigorously, making catty remarks about people who smoked. Addressing no one in particular. Having discretion I kept my mouth shut.

Just blew the smoke through my nose.

LAST WEEK at the party Irwin Schuman threw for visiting British and American newsmen, here for the Ryder Cup classic, I had a nice talk with some of the writers from the other side of the Atlantic.

I thought they were no different from the boys who pound typewriters over here.

"Until I said to a Reuters correspondent: 'Some affair, isn't it?'"

And he answered: "Righto, old chap, it is really a go."

Then, suddenly, everything was all right again.

STAN DELAPLANE:

Team (She Calls Me)

"Hi team," she said. "What's new, team?" That is my teenage daughter. That is the new way we address the family. (Last year I was "Daddy-O.")

Well, that is a good question, coach. What is new? The mail is new.

We have received a plaintive letter from Kelly Wong, Wong's Superservice, Montego Bay, Jamaica:

"SINCE YOU WROTE a few lines about Jamaica Blue Mountain Coffee and Pickapeppa sauce, we have filled 200 orders," writes Mr. Wong. "We still have 1,000 orders to go and are filling them as fast as we can."

I sincerely hope so. Amidst the mail are a number of letters:

"I have ordered but so far have not received —"

I THINK WE should explain here that Montego Bay is a small, sandy Jamaica town! Wong's Superservice, in spite of the brave name, is the size of your neighborhood grocery.

The coffee comes by sea mail. Slow freight. Oh, well.

"The price of coffee has just risen 14 cents," writes Mr. Wong. (He encloses a clipping from the Jamaica paper confirming this.) "We are filling all orders and enclosing a debit account."

Kelly Wong sounds a little hysterical.

HERE IS A LETTER from a lady with a problem: "I have just returned from a trip to Europe. I had the misfortune to sign in at a hotel; left my baggage, dashed out in a great hurry to see Paris and did not stop to jot down the name of the hotel or the street."

The lady has not been able to find hotel or baggage. Neither could the police.

"Whatever is wrong with France? They seem to just hate us. And the English, too."

"WELL, TEAM," SHE said, "I am invited to a party by the DIVINEST boy. You'll love him, team."

I doubt it. I try hard but find my emotions fairly untouched by the divines that come up the graveled driveway. (If you come up with a roar, it spins the gravel and is simply divine. Did you know that? True. The man who graveled it charged $200 but let us pass to better things.)

HERE IS A LADY who wants a summer job on a boat for her teenage daughter.

"She is a gifted musician, plays Hammond organ, accordion and drums all at the same time. We know of no one else who is doing this. There is a good possibility she will appear on Lawrence Welks program."

Now there is a girl you could address as "team" and be absolutely right.

I DO NOT SEE any signs of such talent on the part of my teenage teammate.

When this child was a mere moppet, I had great hopes. She beat on a drum — it was nerve-racking but I felt I should encourage musical ambition.

She gave up the drum in later years and we spent a fortune on a piano. She was wild to take piano lessons. She took three, or maybe it was four, I forget. However, it is an excellent piano with only a few white glass rings on the top.

IT IS AN EXCELLENT place to lay things you have just brought in. Like groceries. And I doubt if we could keep house without it.

We have not gone into accendions yet. But there are strong indications that we are about to take up the ukulele.

In the meantime, we keep things musical and lively with a bedroom radio that simply shakes the house with "Mack the Knife."

And if I hear of any summer jobs on a boat, I will send my OWN daughter.

Sometimes I think I would even pay half the fare.

MIKE CONNOLLY:

She's the Endsville

HOLLYWOOD — Carol Channing followed the magnificent "Mary Stuart" at the Los Angeles Biltmore Theatre with her one-woman "platform" performance in "Show Business," almost as brave as entering Dark-Est Africa with nothing but a flintlock musket.

But our gal made a killin' — she's fabulous, nothing less — strictly The Endsville. Carol is still doing her murderous mock-up on Marlene Dietrich. This is one instance where imitation is NOT the sincerest form of flattery, not to Marlene anyway. I consider it non-malicious and so do most of Carol's audiences.

I ASKED HER HOW she started doing it. She said she got the idea from George Burns' "foreign star" imitations. He does them strictly for his friends and his own knotty knee-bones are important props in his take-offs on gals with gorgeous gams!

Carol's theatre and nightclub bookings are handled by the same agent as Marlene's, MCA. Said Carol: "I don't mind what Marlene says behind my back — except when she says it to the bosses at MCA and I lose bookings because of it!" . . . P.S.: The Feud Flames On!

COLUMBIA'S Chicago - based "Let No Man Write My Epitaph" is shaping up as the studio's all-star special of '60. Signed so far: Jean Seberg, Burl Ives, Shelley Winters, Jimmy Darren, Ricardo Montalban.

It's screen-testing time in Tinseltown and two of the most hotly contested roles of the year are Marc Antony, Liz Taylor's sidekick in "Cleopatra," and Mahlon, the young Judean in "The Story of Ruth." Tony Franciosa and Steve Boyd are slugging it out for ol' Marc and almost everyone but Marlon is screen-testing for Mahlon, including John Kerr, Dick Beymer and Brett Halsey.

I'VE NEVER HEARD of an actor pleading with a studio to cut the size of his role but that's exactly what Jack Benny is doing at Fox these days. He claims they've given him too much to do in his spot as the comic who teaches Greg Peck comedy timing in "The Billionaire." He wants his script hacked down to the same size as those of Frank Sinatra (Greg's singing teacher) and Fred Astaire (dance instructor, what else?)

"We should all have the same 'cameo-size' parts that proved so successful with those fast-living stars," says Jack, "in 'Around the World in 80 Days.'"

SAME PICTURE: They've written in a part for a short agent similar to Hollywood's own witty Irving ("Swiftly") Lazar who hires George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart (played by themselves) to write a one-line gag for "Billionaire" Peck for $10,000!

Producer Alan Pakula planned out to London to find a "courtly" actor to play the part of J. Hartley Manners, the late, great producer who married his star, the late, great Laurette Taylor. "Laurette," of course, will star Judy Holliday.

Overheard in a backyard in

Bel-Air: "Gee, Mom, if I can't go out and play with that horrible Jones kid, kin I go out and beat him up?"

CHANNEL CHATTER—You've been seeing telecasts of Gardner McKay's early segments for Fox-TV's Adventures in Paradise series. Kim Hunter, that fine actress, just finished one with him that will beam weeks (if not months) from now. Never one to swoon over another actor, Kim nonetheless has nothing but the best to say about McKay, especially about "the gleam of his diablerie, the phosphorescent quality of his performance" (what she means is — the guy's GOOD!).

Eva Marie Saint's singing debut in the telecast of "Our Town" is inching her toward a tueshow after she finishes her "Exodus" dramatics for Otto Preminger.

DAVID HEDISON, who was Al Hedison before he got himself "handsomed" with a nose-bob for the lead in Fox-TV's Five Fingers is worrying his friends — because Hedison seems to be spending more time worrying about the ratings on the series than he spends studying his scripts!

Remember Ronald Colman in "Bulldog Drummond"? Revue Productions has purchased the TV rights for ANOTHER private-eye series (please, fellas, my nerves!).

MGM had Denny Miller's molars capped and ordered its new musician to shed his "Tarzan" loincloth in preparation for Bigger-and-Better-Things. Namely, top movie roles.

FOUR STAR HAS found a sponsor for The Lonely Road, a new Western series stemming from one segment of Zane Grey Theatre. Its star (he also starred in that segment) is Tom Gilson. And Tom is committed to do it, even though he doesn't relish being tied to a series, because that was the original agreement.

But since he did that segment his career has been on the up-beat, his top movie role to date being that of a kookie young actor in "The Crowded Sky," at Warner Brothers, whose agent (played by Patsy Kelly) accompanies him on a fateful plane flight (yep, they crash!) to his first big break in Hollywood.

GOERGE POLK, one of the top execs for an ad agency (BBD&O) that suggest shows to sponsors, says the big program trend TV-wise for the 1960-61 season is toward "family-type shows." That's why Rexall, at George's suggestion, has chosen to bankroll a National Velvet series, based on the old MGM movie that spelled stardom for a child actress named Elizabeth Taylor.

Network nabobs make suggestions to sponsors too—and that's why ABC-TV program topper Tom Moore has purchased TV rights to "The Asphalt Jungle" — also from MGM — for a series. This, you may remember, was the movie that spelled stardom for another unknown, Marilyn Monroe.

Definition of "All-Star Cast": When a producer fibs about having a "Big Name" cast all lined up in order to float bank financing for his film!

Dog License Penalty Set $200 Fine Left In Law by Supervisors

The Board of Supervisors voted unanimously this week to leave in the county's dog control ordinance the provision for a maximum misdemeanor penalty of $200, and to add to it provision for a maximum fine of $25 or imprisonment of three days or both for failure to obtain a license.

Last week the board voted three to two to amend the ordinance to eliminate the $200 maximum misdemeanor penalty. Voting in opposition were Supervisor George Berkey and Supervisor Paul Anderson.

COUNTY COUNSEL Ray T. Sullivan, Jr. told the board that they had failed to include in their order elimination of the maximum imprisonment provision.

"If you want me to obey the order literally I can do it," he said, "but I think you'd be very unhappy with it. It would read that any person violating any provisions of the ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not more than three months."

SUPERVISOR FRED McCall said he had received numerous phone calls expressing alarm at the possibility of a $200 fine if they fail to obtain a license. "I talked with the enforcement officer," he said, "and he suggested a maximum fine of $25 and maximum jail sentence of three days. I believe that's reasonable," said Supervisor William Jones.

SULLIVAN SAID determination of a penalty would be up to a judge and normally a maximum would not be imposed. He said the $200 maximum is advisable to protect provisions in the ordinance other than licensing, such as control of a dog running at large in public parks or school grounds, quarantine of dogs proved to have bitten a person, control of rabies dog, provision for posting vicious dog signs, and control of female dogs in heat.

He found no fault with addition of the $25 fine and three-day imprisonment clause for failure to obtain a license. At his suggestion there will be provision for a ten days written notice before any fine is imposed.

THE ORDINANCE presently provides also for an additional fee of $1.50 for license applications made more than 60 days after the date required. The license fee for male dogs and spayed female dogs is $3, and for unsprayed females $5.

The ordinance was adopted July 8. The licenses became effective Oct. 1.

It is estimated that in the 1960's there will be 30,000,000 more people with $170 billion more to spend. To inform and sell the ever growing market household fixture advertisers increased their investment in daily newspapers last year by 117 per cent.

PSHS 'Bursting With Spirit'

By MARALEE MORRIS
Palm Springs High was really bursting with spirit last week. In one of the most thrilling games of the year the Indians tied the Banning Broncos 13-13. The fans on both sides were cheering wildly right up to end of the fourth quarter, when PSHS came through with a surprise touchdown, which tied the game.

The Indians also have a new addition — a mascot, Mr. Spirit. Mr. Spirit, who will appear at both our games and pep assemblies is portrayed by Bill Haber, talented and humorous senior.

On Nov. 18 the American Field Serve organization of PSHS will commence their grand sale of milk chocolate bars in order to raise money for the foreign exchange student program. The chocolate is a product of World's Finest Chocolate, one of the best chocolate manufacturers in the world. That's all for now. See you all next week.

Worthy Grand Matron Installs 1960 Eastern Star Officers

The beautiful installation ritual for the officers of Palm Springs Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, centered around a distinguished guest, Mary E. Balden, Worthy Grand Matron of the Grand Chapter, State of California.

Mrs. Balden, whose home is in Fillmore, honored the local Chapter not only by her presence at this important event, but also by officiating as an Installing Officer. She is ranking officer for 1960 of the 600 Eastern Star Chapters in California with a total roster of over 165,000 members.

The new Worthy Matron Anita S. Dubin wore a gown of dusty pink satin, jeweled and glittering, and her officers wore white. Carrying out the theme of the evening, the bowknot of love, with the colors blue and white, Mrs. Dubin carried a bowknot of glittering white net with silver lace ribbon bow and streamers, outlined with white flowers, and the officers carried bowknots of blue net, with silver lace ribbon and clusters of blue forget-me-nots.

Installing officers, in addition to Mrs. Balden, were: Edna Jenkins, Grand Adah; Alice Divine, Deputy Grand Matron of the 62nd District; Josephine McCauley, Past Matron; Lou Dubin, Past Patron; Larry Embree, Past Patron, with G. Carroll Waller, Past Patron, acting as master of ceremonies. Past Matrons Helen Winterton, Frances Hanley and Lola Sherrill, acted as Installing Marshal, Installing Chaplain and Honorary Marshal, respectively.

Presiding at the installation meeting which drew a capacity crowd of 400 from all over the state, were Worthy Matron Mary Clark, and Worthy Patron Thor Fredericksen, who were completing their terms of office.

Other dignitaries attending the Palm Springs Installation were John Vale, a member of the Public Relations Committee of General Grand Chapter and a Past Grand Patron of California, who gave the benediction; Philip Frederick Leahy, a Past Grand Patron of California, Forest Wheeler, a Past Grand Patron of Wyoming, Edna Jenkins of Beverly Hills, Grand Adah of California, Alice Divine, Deputy Grand Matron of the 62nd District, and Cora Engleman, Deputy Grand Matron of the 61st District.

Installed in office, the new 1960 officers are: Worthy Matron, Anita S. Dubin, Worthy Patron, Willard A. McKinney; Associate Matron, Ethel Embree; Associate Patron, Kenneth Squires; Secre-

C. C. Juniors Get Ready for Rummage Sale

Junior Woman's Club of Cathedral City will hold a rummage sale Friday November 20 and is still collecting items, it was announced by club president, Mrs. Thomas Brindle at a meeting held in the Town Hall.

Anyone wishing to donate articles to the sale is asked to call FA 8-2550 or 8-3212.

Preceding the meeting, Mrs. James Dunne led the Pledge of Allegiance and Mrs. Jeanne Rodman gave the invocation.

Many articles for the forthcoming bazaar were on display in the hall and chairman for this event are Mmes. Merrill Oistad, Charles Lamkin, George Rodman and Harry Estel.

In recognition of Apple for a Teacher Day Thursday, members of the club presented each teacher in Cathedral City School with an apple in appreciation of their dedication to their children.

Hostesses for the evening were Mmes. James Dunne and Thomas Brindle who had artistically decorated the hall in keeping with the autumn theme.

Sonny Burkes Host Party

The Sonny Burkes gave cheerful welcomes to their many guests as they entered the attractive Silver Spur Ranch home of the Decca exec and his wife. The house overlooks Palm Desert and has a view of the entire desert area. Their party followed the closing events of the Ryder Cup Matches.

Among the houseguests of the Burkes were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lavery of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. William Quayle of San Francisco and conductor Charles Bud Dant.

Silver Spur neighbors joining the festive party were Betty and Earl Torry, Mercedes and Adrian Schwilck, Rhea and Cliff Carling and Adeline Height with Don Hagen.

Also accepting the warm hospitality of the Burkes were Pat Koenigsberger of Los Angeles, Mrs. Les Brown, Doris Egbert, and Bel-Airites Mr. and Mrs. Stan Hardman, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Partidges, Dr. and Mrs. Louis Pruchers and Mr. and Mrs. Arkel Burnap.

Shadow Mountain Club Starts Social Season on Saturday

The social season at Shadow Mountain Club will be officially launched on Saturday evening when members and their guests will attend the gala formal dinner dance at the fashionable Palm Desert Club.

Outstanding entertainment is being planned by Richard Kite. Keith White and Renato and a five piece orchestra will provide continual music for dancing. The floor show is scheduled to begin at 10:30 p.m.

More than 300 dinner reservations have been made. Planning to attend the festive evening are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Canfield of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Seth Howell of Malibu and winter residents at the Sandpiper; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Gibson of Sun Lodge; Mr. and Mrs. Dean Cook of Palm Springs; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hill of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bagby of Pebble Beach

Gordon Brown Surprised on Birthday

It was fortunate that several doctors were among the guests at the surprise birthday party given by Mrs. Tommy Brown for her husband Gordon in the Corral Room of the Ranch Club Sunday, as the surprise was almost more than her husband Gordon could take.

The unsuspecting victim and his wife were invited for cocktails at the home of Mrs. Danielle Nemeroff, who suggested they all go out for dinner, but wanted to stop off at the Ranch Club first to pick up some friends. When they arrived they were ushered into the Corral Room where the group gathered to spring the surprise as Gordon entered. He was so overcome he weakened at the knees and almost collapsed.

A table had been set up and held an assortment of fancy hors d'oeuvre in the middle of which stood a beautifully decorated birthday cake.

Among those enjoying the evening, cocktails and the music of the club orchestra were Messrs. and Mmes. Arthur Robinson, William Seemann, Ross McCutcheon, Morris Markowitz.

Also Dr. and Mrs. Harold Epling and Mrs. Wynn Briggs from San Clemente, Dr. and Mrs. Leo Fuchs, Dr. Jack Nevins, Dr. Alfred Huergardi, Lynne Jennings, Bill Webb and others.

Barber Shoppers Planning Social

The Barber Shoppers (SPEBS-QSA), will hold a social evening Monday, November 16 at 8 p. m., at the Boy's Club. Men with a yen to exercise their vocal cords, are invited to attend and bring their wives too, as guests are invited.

Refreshments will be served. The society is currently practicing and planning for what they describe as a giant musical extravaganza to be presented at the High School auditorium on February 6.

Surprises Wife With Desert Home

When Mr. and Mrs. E. F. McDonald of Chicago and New York were met at Palm Springs airport by Cliff Henderson, they did not realize that their new Firecliff Colony residence in Palm Desert was ready for immediate occupancy. The new desert residence was a complete surprise to Mrs. McDonald who did not know her husband had purchased a desert home for them.

All furnishings and appointments in the handsome decor met with the sincere approval of Mrs. McDonald.

Following the initial inspection, the McDonalds and Cliff Henderson joined Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kraus for dinner at Firecliff Lodge.

The McDonalds have spent many winter seasons in Florida; however, they have now abandoned the southern state for sunny winters in the California desert.

Mrs. Moser Is Surprised at Stork Shower

Pink and blue balloons hung from the ceiling and long-legged storks guarded the gifts when Mrs. Neil Thuresson entertained in her home on Santa Barbara Drive at a surprise baby shower for Mrs. Bud Moser.

Several party games were played followed by the serving of refreshments, which included a beautifully decorated shower cake.

Among those attending were Mmes. Tom Rafferty, Paul Smith, Bill Burns, Glenn Bandow, Don Moser, Dick Keith, Ernie Johnson, Guy Dew, Don Mendoza, Bart Bolander, Va Cross, Ralph Galzerano, Herbert Mennell Jr., Libby Knighton. Also Dottie Neidhart, Barbara Miller and Bert Moser.

Luncheon Is Surprise for Mrs. Peterson

Arranged as a birthday surprise for the guest of honor, Mrs. Elizabeth McGee hosted a luncheon at the Tennis Club for Mrs. Austin Peterson. The guests gathered in the Venetian Room where pre-luncheon cocktails were served. Flower arrangements on the luncheon table were in pinks, purples and whites to match the Venetian Room's color scheme.

Guests wishing Mrs. Peterson a "Happy Birthday" included Mesdames Donald Woods, MacDonald Eastman, Arthur Rolapp, Lelf Heine, Robert Buckner, and William Otto.

WORTHY GRAND MATRON of California Mrs. Mary E. Balden, center, was here from Fillmore to act as installing officer for the Saturday night installation of Anita S. Dubin, on left, as Worthy Matron, and Willard A. McKinney, right, as Worthy Patron of the Palm Springs Chapter of Eastern Star.

What's New?....

A new pillowcase does for pillows what contour sheets do for the bed. It has a concealed zipper inside the hem to hold the pillow neatly in place. Available in white, pink, blue or maize no-iron cotton. ("Showcase," Dayton Rubber Co., Dayton, O.)

Hosiery styles include a wealth of diamond - patterned weaves. For daytime, there are criss-cross patterns in black, charcoal, brown, beige and green. Evening hose combine black and gold diamond point lace designs. Most are seamless.

A variation of a blanket is the latest cover-up for fall. One St. Louis manufacturer shows a plaid wool blanket slashed in the center to make a poncho for stadium and sportswear. The poncho comes with a hood and closes with a slide fastener under the chin.

Flattened, it can be used as a lap robe or blanket. The poncho goes into lounge wear for the indoors, too. One manufacturer shows fringed ponchos in vivid, striped cotton knits and printed cotton flannels. They're paired with solid color capri or treader pants.

The sweat shirt inspires some of the newest campus fashions. One St. Louis designer uses the pull-over in a two-piece costume. The slim - cut skirt is in wool tweed, and the same tweed is used for the front of the pullover; the back and neck are wool knit.

The demure silhouette returns in fashions for small girls. The "Louisa May Alcott" look shows in tiny waisted dresses, with large, puffed sleeves; in ruffled pinafores, middies, and princess styles worn with black or matching tights.

Unitarian - Universalist Group Holds Weekend Conference Here

Mrs. Hobart Mulford, past national president of Universalist Women of America was principal speaker on the subject of the proposed Unitarian-Universalist merger at the Saturday night dinner at the Biltmore, which highlighted the weekend conference here of Unitarian and Universalist women groups extending from Albuquerque to Honolulu.

According to Mrs. Mulford, now a member of the Costa Mesa Universalist Church and a delegate to the recent joint Unitarian-Universalist Conventions which ended at Syracuse on November 1, accord was reached after much deliberation on all points of difference by delegates of both denominations and now the final decision on the merger will depend on a plebiscite of all Universalist and Unitarian churches in the United States and Canada, to be held in the spring of 1960.

The Saturday evening event climaxed an interesting day of workshops delving into worship, membership and extension, leadership training, denominational affairs and mutual problems, followed by a meeting at which Mrs. Herbert Bowen, vice president of the General Alliance of Unitarian and other Liberal Christian Women, from Tucson, presided and clarified with a graphic demonstration the relationship between the General Alliance (National Organization) to the separate branches and their members.

Activities closed with a modern worship service (open to the general public) in contrast to the traditional one which started Saturday's program, followed by reports by recorders from all the workshops.

According to the co-chairmen responsible for planning the conference — Mrs. Victor Odin, director of Pacific Coast South of the General Alliance; from Pacific Palisades; Mrs. Frank Buell of Pasadena, president of the Alliance of Southern California, Arizona, New Mexico, West Texas, and Hawaii; Miss Flora Turner, also of Pasadena, president of California Association of Universalist Women; and guest observer Mrs. Howard Hauze from Berkeley, director of Pacific Coast North Region, the whole conference was highly successful and Palm Springs — and the Embassy and Sunny Stones Apartment-Hotels — ideal headquarters for it.

Estevez Still Out Front

Three distinguished Spaniards who contributed to America's early history figure in the family tree of Luis Estevez. They are, Count Bernardo de Galvez, Viceroy of Mexico, for whom the city of Galveston, Texas was named; Philippe Fatio, one of the early settlers of St. Augustine, the first city in America; and Count de Galvez' son, Bernardo, who was governor of Florida under Spanish rule. Among St. Augustine's historic landmarks is the Fatio house, now a museum.

But Cuba, not the United States, was the birthplace of Luis Estevez, American fashion designer, who in 1956 received the Coty "Winnie." The grandson of Santiago Estevez, the Cuban sugar magnate, Luis was educated by the Jesuits in his native Havana and spent four years in an American prep school before returning to Havana to study architecture.

Lord and Taylor, the spiritual "birthplace" of so much American fashion talent, cradled the Estevez spark via its Display Department, where the young architectural student found a summer job. The vacation extended into a vocation: Estevez never returned to school.

His first attempts at dress designing were praised and encouraged by Dorothy Shaver, Lord and Taylor's dynamic president, and he took a two months' leave of absence from the store to learn cutting and draping at the Traphagen School. Then he was ready to design, and joined a Seventh Avenue firm.

Confirmed in his career of dress designer, Estevez and his fiancée, who is now his wife, concluded that work in the French Couture was important to his development, and he went to Paris to work a year and a half in the house of Jean Patou.

Soon after his return to the

LUIS ESTEVEZ

United States, Estevez, with Fred and Robert Greenberg and Ben Papell, founded the firm of Grenelle, and launched the Estevez label. Prompt public acclaim and fashion awards followed. Within a year Estevez received the Sunshine Award of Burdines, Florida and the first Gold Coast Award from the City of Chicago for the most outstanding designer of the year. In 1959 the partnership was dissolved and Luis Estevez established his own house, Estevez Inc., at 550 Seventh Avenue.

An Estevez Collection is always all Estevez. In addition to the clothes, he designs his own jewelry, hats, shoes, even, in many instances, his own fabrics. In his own words "there isn't anything that I don't want to design. Everything is an opportunity: a piece of furniture for our apartment, a tie that I would like to wear, a ring for my wife's finger."

Mr. Estevez, the former Betty Dew Menzies of Nassau, Bahamas, has always been a great source of inspiration and her husband admits that she is a very severe critic. Slim, tall, young and beautiful, she likes her clothes to be simple, with lines sharply defined and totally uncluttered. Such are Estevez clothes.

SIGMUND FREUD AND FRIEND relax in the study of the psychological genius in this photograph reproduced from the files of lecturer John Robert Clarke. The globe-trotting speaker will discuss Freud and his seven "disciples" of psychiatry in the regular Desert Inn series which begin at 8 p. m., tonight.

FREUD 'DISTORTED,' SAYS SPEAKER HERE

"Seldom understood but greatly acclaimed, Freud is chiefly known today for distortions of his point of view," John Robert Clarke will tell his audience when he presents "The Seven Rings of Sigmund Freud," at 8 p. m., tonight in the Desert Inn.

Clarke, now in his sixteenth series of public lecture-forums in San Diego and his second season locally, will consider what basic truths Freud found, how valid they may be in shaping attitudes today, and whether or not people may gain by knowing more about the "strange twilight world beneath the level of consciousness."

"IT IS SURPRISING," said Clarke, commenting on his forthcoming talk, "that Freud was so charmingly warm as a person, and so flexible as a philosopher."

Unfortunately, he is often dismissed as a sort of ogre, a gloomy dream-splitter, who spent his lifetime making an emotional dissection-table for the purpose of taking the joy out of life.

"Actually," Clarke added, "it may require another fifty years for the long-avoided ideas of Freud to permeate conduct and produce the great upswing of mental health they are capable of effecting."

Even today, simply to get behind the mistaken hand-me-down notions about Freud is to learn that he was one of the greatest incentive-makers of his time, whose flashing, memorable ideas can be as illuminating today as they were to people of his own time.

EARL WILSON

Two Girls Think Men Are Dandy

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—June Havoc and Gypsy Rose Lee were sitting around one night—"after our last divorces," as June tells it—with their shoes off, their bare feet up on a coffee table, and not a man in sight.

"We've been predicting that this would happen when we reached this age," said June.

"That what would happen?" asked Gypsy, puzzled. "That we'd have our shoes off?"

"That we'd be alone—and unmarried," said June, a bit plaintively and dramatically.

"Yes—and isn't it restful!" exclaimed Gypsy.

June, now doing perhaps her best acting job yet in "The Warm Peninsula" with Julie Harris, tells me it is restful being a bachelor girl as well as a bachelor boy.

"I love men—but not in the home," she said, emphatically.

I asked whether Gypsy and Billy Rose might ever marry.

"What! Here are the two most domineering people in the world!" June squealed. "It's going to take a strong man to capture Gypsy but she should be captured because she's a lonely heart. Gypsy is like me. She feels men are absolutely marvelous—except when they're around you."

JUST FOR THE RECORD: Max Hess' publicity man, Max Levine, explicitly told reporters in Wash'n that he never paid this columnist any money for anything. I don't know Mr. Hess. I don't know Mr. Levine. I've never seen the Hess store. I've never been on the Hess TV program. I never was offered any money by Hess or his press agents. I have, however, been asked by some of Hess' numerous propagandists to visit him and his store. I did not accept. I evidently don't get around much—I've never even been in Allentown.

The gall of some of the TV plug-buyers! One of them said last night, "Things'll quiet down; next week we'll be back in business." The plugs are often gags with a trade name worked in. One nail polish plug was even slipped over on the late "Omnibus" program—and a big company paid somebody $1,000. The plug-fixers justify their conduct by saying that Rembrandt used to do street scenes and work in a grocery store sign—so he'd get free food for a month.

Dandridge Show Has Drama, Too

There is almost as much drama as music in Dorothy Dandridge's new starring vehicle which erupted on the Starlite Room stage of Chi Chi here last night.

In fact, there is so much of the theatrical in the presentation that a reviewer could almost be forgiven if he labeled the beautiful entertainer more an actress than a singer. (This doubtless arises from her performance in—among other significant works—the film version of "Porgy and Bess.")

DANDRIDGE SEEMS to find style of her own on "I Loves My Porgy," from the movie, and on such things as "Hooray for Love," "Island Down In the West Indies" and "Ridin' On the Moon."

But there is a strong feeling of Lena Horne pervading her rendition of "Sweet Talk" and "What Is This Thing Called Love" and an even more pronounced Billie Holiday flair in "Baby All the Time" and "Easy Livin'." (Since both Lena and Billie were around years before Dorothy arrived on the scene, it is fair to assume she's even more than an actress. She's also a successful mime.)

There was another selection—"Home Cookin'"—in which Dorothy relays the information that you can eat at Romanoff's, at the Dunes or at the Chi Chi if you must but her brand of kitchen hospitality could top them all. It's this quick and easy identification with her audience brings the show across so vitally.

There were other "tricks of the trade in evidence at last night's opening.

Dorothy recalled that her first night club job came when she was just 17 and happened, that's right, in the Chi Chi here.

She munches an apple in the "West Indies" tune, then disposes of it by giving it over to one of the Starlite Room's ringsiders.

What it all adds up to is one of the quickest—and most complete—audience control performances that Starlite Room has had this season. Louis Armstrong did the same thing, in an entirely different method, but with the same results.

EARLIER, CHI CHI patrons got a warm-up from a doll-like Japanese dancer named Keiko who combines art with commercialism in a manner that is both satisfying and entertaining.

And the comedy team of Hale and Hayden, with an act that boasts some of the freshest material—and some of the greatest musical arrangements—to fill the Starlite Room in months also proved sure-fire.

They do tunes from their new album "Castro Swings Batista," delivered a pair of Cic-li-like workouts in Ebb Tide" and Birth of the Blues" and unveiled a simply hilarious routine based on an Olympic Games situation.

They also involved their audience in a community ing bit on "I'll See You in My Dreams," did a hoofing routine to "Together" and set the audience up thoroughly for Miss Dandridge-G. L.

PIANIST NAMED FOR RECITAL HERE

Knowlton Turns Over Duties, Heads For New Assignment

CATHEDRAL CITY — Acting Scoutmaster Charles Knowlton officially turned the duties of Boy Scout Troop 81 Scoutmaster over to Russell Snyder in ceremonies conducted here this week.

Knowlton, an Army chief warrant officer who has been on leave following duty in Korea, leaves here Friday for a new post in New Orleans, La.

HARRY HILL, district commissioner of the Riverside County Council presided at the ceremonies. Other officials attending were George Miller, neighborhood Scout commissioner; assistant scoutmasters Tom Anderson and Marion Woody and Ralph Hammer, Troop 81 committee chairman.

The new scoutmaster was greeted by Orvil Zappe, first vice president of the Cathedral City Lions Club, which sponsors the troop.

KNOWLTON WAS presented a gift in appreciation of his services by Chris Anderson, representing the members of the troop.

It was also announced that Troop 81 will set up a display of their accomplishments at the Lions Club breakfast scheduled for Nov. 15 in the Cathedral parking lot.

A CIVIL WAR RELIC in the form of an Army wagon with an ominous skeleton in the driver's seat turns out to be a "Ghost Coach" in the CBS Television Network's "Johnny Ringo" story for Thursday, Nov. 12 (8:30 p.m. pst). Don Durant stars as Sheriff Johnny Ringo. Mark Goddard, above, is featured at Deputy Cully, along with Karen Sharpe as Laura and Terence de Marney as Cason. The cast includes Carl Benton Reid and Phillip Pine.

'Hidden Image' Star to Be Tone

Franchot Tone trades the mask of evil of his last television role for one of incorruptible honesty in his latest adventure in the world of electronic make-believe. Tone, the corrupt fight promoter of "Body and Soul," the recent Du Pont "Show of the Month," returns to the road of righteousness for his starring role as a proper and persevering aide to a gubernatorial candidate in David Karp's original drama, "The Hidden Image," Thursday, Nov. 12 (9:30-11 p.m. pst), on "Playhouse 90."

NOTES THE ACTOR, "The character I played in 'Body and Soul' would have thrown himself under a streetcar before he'd have let a fight go by without trying to put on the fix."

"My 'Playhouse 90' character, on the other hand, would rather put a bullet through his skull than be associated with any skull-dugger."

SUCH VERSATILITY in character portrayals has allowed Tone to switch back and forth between opposite fictional characters with the ease of changing his shirt. But this has been true only since turning his talents to television. "In the movies I played the same character a hundred times, with only a change in the settings," he says. "In a half dozen years of television I've played more character types than in my entire 25 years of movies."

Last season's "Playhouse 90" production, "A Quiet Game of Cards," even gave Tone the opportunity to play a dual personality. A distinguished banker, he was also a "gentle" assassin in this provocative Reginald Rose drama.

TONE HAS BEEN described as one of the most "nervously amiable" actors ever to cross the boards. The amiability is strictly the Franchot Tone personality. "The nervousness," he says, "must be a result of trying to remember each time whether I'm one of the 'good guys' or the 'bad guys' — or perhaps somewhere in between."

"All this switching back and forth is not without reason," adds Tone. "There's nothing like a good 'heavy' role to start my creative juices gushing. But on the other hand," he smiles, "you don't want to play the villain so often that people start hating you on the street."

As the "good guy" in "The Hidden Image," he'll be joined by Martin Gabel, Nancy Marchand, George Grizzard and Frank Maxwell in the starring cast. The 90 minute drama is produced by Fred Coe and directed by Boris Sagal.

IRATE HUSBAND SUES FOR DIVORCE

An irate husband sues for divorce over his wife's supposed visit to "dying mothers," which an apparently disinterested detective reports was actually a visit with an old romance on KTTV's "Divorce Court," Thursday, Nov. 12, 8 p.m. Channel Eleven.

When his wife's prolonged absence to visit her sick mother causes worry for her husband, he hires a detective to locate her. He feels that he has been hoodwinked when the supposedly disinterested detective reports his wife was involved with an old romantic attachment. The husband is understandably doubly irritated.

KTTV's Bill Welsh advises the audience with behind-the-scenes commentary on the divorce principals, and the legal rulings and decisions handed down by the "Divorce Court" for KTTV, while Jim Gates directs.

Sammy Davis, Jr., Stars on 'Zane Grey Theater'

Sammy Davis, Jr., stars as a corporal in command of a group of cavalymen assigned to deliver an Indian chief to their fort to sign a peace treaty in "Mission," on CBS-TV's "Zane Grey Theater," Thursday, Nov. 12 (8:30 p.m. pst). Highlighted are pagan ceremonies, primitive tattooing and the way of life of these unusual jungle people.

'Fair Exchange' To Be Drama
The culprit responsible for missing valuables leads two prospecting partners to one of the West's richest gold mines in the true "Death Valley Days" drama, "Fair Exchange," seen Thursday night, Nov. 12 at 7 p.m. over KRCA (Channel 4).

Rosensohn Goes On Stand Today In License Case

NEW YORK (UPI)—Promoter Bill Rosensohn, acting as his own attorney, faces the New York State Athletic Commission today at a license-revocation hearing.

Defending himself against three misconduct charges, he must "show cause" why his suspended license as matchmaker shall not be revoked permanently.

The charges stemmed from Rosensohn's promotion of the June 26 fight at Yankee Stadium, where Sweden's Ingemar Johansson won the world heavyweight title from Floyd Patterson.

It probably was the most confused big-time promotion in boxing history, and it left a wake of even greater confusion.

He is charged with conspiring with persons of ill repute — mobsters and gamblers, with transferring two-thirds of his stock in the Rosensohn Enterprises Corp. without notifying the commission, and with putting 200 working press tickets on sale in violation of commission rules.

The commission termed those alleged violations "acts detrimental to the best interests of boxing."

Name Nellie Fox Most Valuable in American Loop

BOSTON (UPI)—Nelson Fox, the combative second baseman who typified the "go go spirit" of the Chicago White Sox, today became the first player in the team's history to be named the American League's Most Valuable player.

The 31-year-old Fox garnered 295 points in the balloting by baseball writers to beat out Luis Aparicio, his 25-year-old double play teammate from Maracaibo, Venezuela who was second with 255 points.

Four of the 24 voting writers, three in each American League, considered the tandem so inseparable that they split their first-place ballots between the two. Fox drew 14 first place votes, five second-place votes and one third-place vote. Aparicio won six votes for top honors, 13 for second place and one for third.

Right-hander Early Wynn of the White Sox made it a Chicago tri-umvirate by finishing third with 123 points. Wynn compiled a 22-10 record last season.

Slugging Rocky Colavito of the second-place Cleveland Indians was fourth with 117 points. Indians centerfielder Tito Franco, who won himself a starting position after the campaign got underway, finished fifth with 102 points.

Jackie Jensen of the Boston Red Sox, last year's winner, finished 10th in the voting.

Only Fox and Aparicio were considered worthy of first-place votes. A total of 29 players were named in the balloting, announced here by Hy Hurwitz of the Boston Globe, secretary-treasurer of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The selection of Fox made it an all-Chicago year in the MVP voting. Shortstop Ernie Banks of the Cubs won the national League MVP honor last week.

Cooper Receives Original Cartoon Of Ike's Sojourn
One of the most delightful cartoons to originate from President Dwight Eisenhower's recent visit to Palm Springs was Los Angeles Examiner cartoonist Karl Hubenthal's editorial page drawing "Speaking Of The Cold War."

The drawing, depicting a Desert Spa "Old Sol" swatting a pesky fly while "Ike" looks on with a tacit, "Well Done," was featured on the editorial pages of the entire Hearst newspaper chain.

Hubenthal, a former U. S. Marine Corps combat artist during World War II, has been honored numerous times for his outstanding sports and editorial creations. Formerly with the Los Angeles Herald and Express, he returned from the war to the Examiner where his sports cartoons have amused thousands of readers.

His original "Speaking Of The Cold War" was autographed to Jimmy Cooper, manager of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce, and will hang in Cooper's office.

MINNESOTA FANS WOULD PAY COACH TO QUIT HIS JOB

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—Murray Warmath will be paid $37,500 to quit as Minnesota football coach, a local businessman said today.

Warmath has been under fire because of the Gopher's poor showing this season. The team has won two of seven games this season and faces the prospects of ending in the Big Ten cellar.

Charles D. Pyle Sr. said he was head of a group which had offered to pay Warmath for the remaining two years of his Minnesota contract if he would resign.

Pyle said both Warmath and university officials agreed to the plan.

Johnson Not too Happy Over Win Over Sonny Ray

CHICAGO (UPI)—A razor-sharp fighter with no foes, Harold Johnson, apologized today for a poor performance, even though he belted out Sonny Ray in the 10th round of their nationally televised fight Wednesday night.

Johnson, the No. 1 challenger for the light heavyweight crown, said he might have finished his opponent earlier, but he was afraid to try because he had little confidence in his ability.

"I didn't think I had the timing to do it," he said, "and I didn't want to risk missing."

Johnson, 31, floored Ray for a six count in the fourth round, but he said "he covered up well and I couldn't chance moving in on him."

"I didn't think I was right, but I didn't think I could be without any more fights than I've had recently. I've tried to get matches with every heavyweight and they won't fight me. I just can't get any fights, Johnson said."

It was Johnson's 62nd win as a pro and the ninth loss for Ray, who has won 20 of 34 pro bouts. Johnson has been beaten only times.

Jayvee Title to be Decided On Local Gridiron Tonight

Coachella Here for Big Game

Junior Varsity football championship of the new Desert Valley League is on the line tonight on the Palm Springs High School gridiron when Coachella Valley's Arababes, twice defeated so far and Palm Springs High Papooses, unbeaten in six games, clash at 6 o'clock.

The Arababes lost to Hemet High 0 to 7 and to the Indio High School varsity, 20-25.

They won from Beaumont, Rubidoux of Riverside and Twenty-nine Palms JV's for their 3-2 mark.

Coaches Bob Gilmore and Dick Hough of the Papooses, have their squad in excellent condition for tonight's game.

Outstanding so far have been Chuck Baker and Bill Bradley in the backfield and Carlos Reyes, Gil Flores and Dave Simon in the line.

To date the local JVs have scored 118 to 25 for their six opponents.

ALTHOUGH THEY have lost two games, the Arab JVs have a high scoring outfit and have also run up 118 points. Their opponents have racked up 38.

The Arababes are coached by Gene Marks and Walt Criner and have a speedy backfield in Mert Gaylor, Roger Totten and Jim Hogue. One of their ace linemen, Cliff Salsbury, may be out tonight due to an injured ankle.

The two teams have met only one common foe, the Hemet JVs. The Papoose gridders won their game 13 to 0 while Hemet defeated the Arabs JVs, 7 to 0.

Tamarisk Club Auxiliary Meets In Tournament

Women's Auxiliary of Tamarisk Country Club staged a nine-hole ceclectic tournament this week at half handicap with Virginia Parker winning with a low net of 31 1/2.

Second was Ann DeGoff who posted a card of 33. Florence Berkman was third with a card of 34 1/2.

In a low net tourney with full handicap last week, Marge Kanrich and Sylvia Golan tied with 75. Next was Elinor Harris with 76.

Inflation Catches Up With Batters

NEW YORK — Inflation has finally caught up with the horse race bettors.

The two-dollar minimum bet, in effect since 1911, may be discarded according to Spencer Drayton, executive secretary of the Thoroughbred Racing Association.

The punters may have to dig up five bucks per race soon.

Hills Appointed to State Racing Board
SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown has appointed E. A. Hills, a San Francisco trucking executive, to the California Horse Racing Board.

Yanks in Market For Left-Handed Fielder, Pitcher
NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Yankees are definitely in the market for a left-handed hitting outfielder and a pitcher.

General Manager George Weiss made that clear Wednesday during a press conference called to name the Yankees' 1960 coaching staff.

A four-man staff was revealed comprised of Ed Lopat, Ralph Houk, Frank Crosetti and Bill Dickey.

Lopat and Houk are regarded as the heirs-apparent to succeed Manager Casey Stengel.

LOOK, MA, NO HANDS!

Frat Boys Win Over Sorority on Gridiron

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—The battle of the sexes has spread to the intramural football field at Texas Christian University. A determined fraternity team used an ambidextrous quarterback Wednesday to squeak by a sorority eleven 12-8.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity students, trying hard to be gentlemanly, took the victory despite an early scoring lead by the girls of Delta Gamma Sorority.

The teams were governed by two different sets of regulations. The men used their opposite passing. If a passer was right handed, he used his left. Male defensive players could not break from a walk until they were past the line of scrimmage and into the Delta Gamma backfield, and they had to keep their hands to themselves. That is, down to their sides.

The girls observed these rules:

No flirting with players during game time.

No unladylike conduct.

No use of feminine charms to confuse male players.

The fraternity scores both came off the passing arm of Lowell Adams of Crane, Tex., who being ambidextrous, was not effected by the opposite hand passing rule.

Rough Riding Charge Follows International

LAUREL, Md. (UPI)—Recriminations echoed throughout the world today following Bald Eagle's victory for the United States in the eighth running of the Washington, D.C. International.

The Venezuelan and Australian horses lost their jockeys and charges of rough riding were made by several jockeys in the race—excepting victorious Manny Ycaza who guided Bald Eagle to an easy two and one-half length triumph.

The New Zealanders from one side of the globe were seething and the Russians from the other half of the world were equally hot.

The spill occurred after the horses had gone half a mile in the mile and one-half race. Pennsylvania from Venezuela crossed over in front of Australia's Vogel. Jockey William Camer on Vogel couldn't check his horse and they collided. Both animals almost went to their knees. Camer and Gustavo Avila slammed to the turf.

Up and Coming from New Zealand almost crashed into the thrown jockeys but missed them. Then he too scraped the fence.

Bald Eagle as up front railing Tudor Era, the pacemaker, with France's Midnight Sun third. They Bald Eagle was up front trailing Tudor Era, the pacemaker, with France's Midnight Sun third. They missed the fireworks with Bald Eagle and then Midnight Sun passing Tudor Era on the turn into the homestretch and finishing one-two. Tudor Era, the eighth straight favorite to fail, pulled in a tired third.

Gonzaga's Injury Not too Serious

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—John Gonzaga, injured defensive lineman for the San Francisco Forty Niners, may be back in action within three weeks.

Doctors said Wednesday that Gonzaga's knee injury was a "stretch type" injury and there was no apparent cartilage damage.

Jamin to Default Trotting Crown
INGLEWOOD (UPI)—The French trotting star Jamin leaves to Europe today, thus defaulting his part of the claim to the $75,000 America Trotting Classic title.

Charming Barbara trotted an enviable Hollywood Park record time of 1:58 for the mile distance Wednesday to win an upset victory in the third leg of the classic over Jamin and favored Senator Frost.

Both Jamin and Senator Frost won one of the previous legs of the rich race and a win by either of them Wednesday would have clinched the title.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Yankees are definitely in the market for a left-handed hitting outfielder and a pitcher.

IT'S BIKE SAFETY TIME again for Palm Springs school youngsters who peddle their 'cycles to and from school everyday. The annual bike safety inspection program is conducted by the Palm Springs Police Department and sponsored by the Optimist Club. Safety stickers are issued to all cyclists whose bikes pass inspection. Checking

Romberg Tells DHS Group of Industry Tour

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — Edward Romberg, Cabazon business leader, was a guest at the Improvement Association meeting and told the membership about a tour he had made under Riverside Board of Trade auspices to Visalia, Fresno, San Francisco and San Jose.

Object of the trip was to learn how these communities brought in light industry.

The most successful communities had printed brochures giving detailed accounts of the community and its resources, and had placed them in strategic spots where they would attract attention of industry.

Romberg said that as the aim of the desert area is to attract future residents, action of this type must be taken.

Students Lose Case

POULTNEY, Vt. (U) — Four Dartmouth College students were fined $22 apiece because they all were riding in the front seat of a car. It did them no good to plead that they "had to work under tension and anxiety during the week and were entitled" to relax on weekends.

THOUSAND PALMS

Chamber Planning Indio Fair Booth

Initial planning for the booth, sponsored annually by the Thousand Palms Chamber of Commerce at the Riverside County Fair and National Date Festival, and for new brochures to advertise the Thousand Palms Area to the public were the main topics of discussion when the Chamber of Commerce of Thousand Palms met in regular monthly session at the home of its president, Mrs. J. A. (Mina) Welcome.

The Junior College site recently proposed for the Thousand Palms area was included on the agenda, also.

THE LOCAL Chamber also renewed its associate membership in the Riverside County Water Association, where it is represented by Miss Elizabeth Nelson, a former director of the Coachella Valley County Water District.

Committee reports were heard from the following chairmen: Roads, L. D. Bowman; Membership, Miss Helen I. Hyde; Water, Miss Elizabeth Nelson; Boy Scouts, Dewey D. Wallace; Publicity, Mrs. Alvin Scarborough; and Scrap Book, Mrs. Leslie C. Thomas for Mrs. Joseph Obrazik, chairman.

Mrs. Walter G. Bovee, representative of the chamber to the Coachella Valley Advisory Planning Committee, reported on that committee's October meeting. Mrs. Welcome gave a report on the October meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Riverside County, which she serves as secretary, and which was held at the Desert Moon Ranch of Thousand Palms, with the local chamber as host.

A social hour was enjoyed following the business session.

A houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Patton on Desert Moon Ranch is Arthur Van Buskirk, a friend of Anaheim, who is recuperating in this desert climate from a recent hospitalization.

COUNTY FORMING WATER COMMITTEE

Creation of a new committee to be known as the Riverside County Water Resources Committee was approved by the Board of Supervisors this week.

Administrative Officer Robert T. Andersen explained that the new committee will be more definite and official than the present county water advisory committee which it will replace. He said that a recent legislative amendment provides for formation of water resources committees by counties.

THE RESOLUTION by which the supervisors approved the new committee's creation will become effective as soon as appointees have been named. It provides for eight members of which five are to be appointed by the Board of Supervisors.

The other three members are to be an attorney designated by the Riverside County Bar Association from among its active members, the chief engineer of the Riverside County Flood Control District who is to be an ex officio member with no vote and who is to serve as secretary, and the director of the county's agricultural Extension Service, also ex officio.

OF THE FIRST members selected, the terms of the bar association appointee and of two of the members appointed by the Board of Supervisors are to expire Dec. 31, 1960, and the terms of the other three Board of Supervisors appointees will expire Dec. 31, 1961. Terms of their successors will be two years.

The resolution provides that the committee will elect a chairman and vice chairman. Committee members are not to receive compensation, but are to be reimbursed "for necessary and actual expenses incurred while traveling on behalf of the county either within or without the county" to the extent of funds appropriated for the purpose, and subject to approval of the committee. Travel outside the state must be with prior approval of the Board of Supervisors.

SUPERVISOR FRED McCall questioned reimbursement to the committee members for travel mileage. He said he had understood that it was not allowable. "It is our position," responded County Counsel Ray T. Sullivan, Jr., "but they cannot be paid unless authorized by law. The statute governing this committee under a new law states that the committee members shall be reimbursed for travel expenses."

SUPERVISOR PAUL Anderson noted that reimbursement can only be made if funds have been budgeted. "That means there will not be any reimbursement during this fiscal year," he said.

Administrative Officer Robert T. Andersen said the resolution had been prepared by Sullivan after consultation with him and with John W. Bryant, flood control chief engineer.

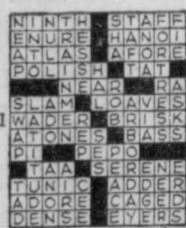

SOME EIGHT months ago Bryant urged enlargement of the water advisory committee to a membership of nine in addition to himself. He said that there had been a vacancy on the five-member board for two years and it was difficult to secure a quorum. It was at that time that the supervisors asked Andersen to work with Bryant and county counsel to effect the requested committee enlargement.

Members of the present committee are Delbert Stephenson of Riverside, chairman; C. O. Barker of Banning, Scott Thursby of Alford, R. Marquis from the Perris area, and Bryant as an ex officio member and secretary.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: First of all I am going to be honest with you. I am 17 and my boyfriend is 20. I love him and he loves me. We have been going steady for 6 months. We have done a lot of petting and I know if we don't get married soon, we will go "all the way" before we are married. We're so much in love we can't help ourselves. He is working and I am still in school. We want to get married but our folks are against it. They think we are too young. He said that if we went all the way and I got pregnant, our folks would have to let us get married. That is what we want to do. Somehow it doesn't seem right to me. Is there any other way?

TWO IN LOVE
Dear Two: Your immature reasoning indicates that you are not ready for the responsibilities of marriage, much less a family! A boy who really loves a girl will not ask her to do anything immoral, degrading or contrary to the wishes of her parents. Control yourself, Miss, and take a long look at this boy (in the daylight.)

DEAR ABBY: I just had a big fight with my neighbor and want to know who is right. She has a three-year-old boy and I have two boys under seven years old.

Her boy (she told me herself) came down with the measles last Tuesday. He has been in my yard and all over the neighborhood in this condition.

She says she can't keep him in the house without tying him up. I said, "TIE HIM UP THEN."

NEIGHBOR
DEAR NEIGHBOR: There are several kinds of measles, but measles are still considered an "illness and even a 'light case'" shouldn't be taken lightly. CONFIDENTIAL TO "WONDERING HOW": Intuition probably. (That's the mysterious power that enables a woman to put two and two together and get your number).

CONFIDENTIAL TO D. D.: Why is he so frantically searching for a state where no blood test is required? Those who avoid it deliberately usually need it most.
